

ADDENDA ET CORRIGENDA to "Anonymi Bodleiani..."

cp. Cahiers 8, p. 3-32

p. 13 164a 27-28: LEGE 164a 27-b2o

p. 15 1.13 underline 'velut longe distantes'

p. 16 1.3 whows: LEGE shows

p. 18, note on 5 & 55. The expression is perhaps not quite so puzzling.

Boethius often uses it, e.g. in his Peri hermeneias commentary 2nd ed.

p. 13 Meiser.

p. 19, note on 42-44. The following remark by Boethius (in Peri herm. ed.

2a, p. 11-12 Meiser) is very worth noticing:

Alexander multa alia addit argumenta cur hoc opus Aristotelis maxime esse videatur. Ea namque dicuntur hic quae sententiis Aristotelis quae sunt de enuntiatione consentiant; illud quoque quod stilus ipse propter brevitatem ab Aristotelis obscuritate non discrepat.

ADDENDA to THE SOPHISMATA OF RADULPHUS BRITO

cp. Cahiers 8, p.33-34

To the Mss. of Sophisma 2, add:

Bibl. Ap. Vat., Pal.lat. 1202 f. 279r- 283 v.

Nürnberg, Stadtbibl., Cent. V 21 f. 125r (fragment).

In the commentary on the Physics, attributed to R.(?) Brito in the Ms. Paris, BN lat. 16160 f. 6vb the following notice is found (cp. A.Zimmermann, Verzeichnis ungedruckter Kommentare zur Metaphysik und Physik, Leiden/Köln 1971 p.183):

Utrum dictio exclusiva addita uni extremorum excludat reliquum debet quaeri. Sed hoc quaeratur in sophismatibus.

So far I have found no likely candidate for verifying this reference.
